The Veach Case.

Following is the abstract of the court of appeals decision:

L. & N. Railroad Company vs. Charles S. Veach.—Filed June 10. Appeal from Christian Circuit Court. (Not to be reported.) Opinion of the court, by Judge Burnam, affirming.

First—It was a question of fact properly submitted to the jury as to whether an injury caused to plaintiff in coupling two of the defendant's cars of a peculiar construction unknown to plaintiff would have occurred if he had used a coupling stick provided by the company.

Second—It cannot be said that an instruction was erroneous which, although grouping a number of propositions together properly directed the attention of the jury to the conditions upon which the plaintiff was entitled to recover, and was not misleading to an ordinarily intelligent jury.

Joe McCarroll, H. W. Bruce, D. B. Warfield, for appellant; W. S. Pryor, John Feland, W. R. Howell, C. H. Bush, for appellee.

DEATH OF A. C. BAKER.

A Well Known Texan Passes Away—Burial at Galveston.

Colonel A. C. Baker died yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. W. B. King. The remains will be taken to Galveston on the 1:50 Santa Fe train this afternoon.

Colonel Baker was born at Princeton, Caldwell county, Kentucky, and was 66 years old. He married Miss Sue E. Summer of Hopkinsville, Ky., and moved to Chappell Hill, Washington county, Texas, before the war. He was in the Confederate cavalry, a member of Terry's Rangers. At the close of war he moved to Galveston, where he conducted a cotton factorage business for a few years under the firm name of A. C. & M. W. Baker. At the death of his brother, M. W. Baker, in 1870, the firm dissolved and he and other moneyed men of Galveston built two cotton compresses—the Texas compress and the Gulf City compress. Col. Baker was superintendent and had full control of these presses for a number of years.

Colonel Baker was a past grand commander and a thirty-third degree Mason and will be buried with Masonic honors.

While Galveston was his home after moving from Chappell Hill, for the past four years he and his wife spent a great deal of their time in Houston, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. King, Mrs. King being his daughter.

His wife and this daughter are his only remaining near relatives.—Houston Post, June 14.

MORRILL ON MUSIC.

I divide music into two parts, music and sacred music. Music is the harmony of sweet sounds. We find music first and always in nature. The songs of birds, the sighing of the wind through the pines, the hum of insects, in all the motions of water, wind and air we find music.

Dr. Morrill, by the way, paid his way through the Theological Seminary of Chicago by playing an organ. He says when choir concert and orchestrate themselves, and when the people join in, then shall we have church music.

In the course of this talk Mr. Morrill accused Dr. Eaton of not singing. Dr. Eaton, now rose to a personal explanation. He said: "Once I was sent for to see an ill man. He asked me to read and pray. I read and prayed. He asked me to sing. I sang—he died, therefore I never sing any more."

The subject was further discuss-

DR. J. M. FROST,
Secretary S. S. Board.

ed by Rev. J. N. Prestidrigs, Rev. W. L. Jones, Rev. E. H. Maddox and Dr. Eaton. Dr. Eaton spoke of the wonderful singing at Spurgeon's church, London, where there is no choir, but a precentor or leader, and singing by all the people. He spoke also of Dr. Archibald Brown's church in East London, where the same rule holds.

Announcements followed and the body was dismissed by Rev. W. D. Nowlin, of Nicholasville, Ky.

Dr. Anderson's Sermon.

Last night at 8 p. m. at the Baptist church the sermon before the ministers' meeting was preached by Rev. J. H. Anderson, of Owenton, from Ephesians 6: 10. Mr. Morrill presided at the organ. Rev. I. P. Trotter offered the invocation. Rev. J. G. Bow read Second Corinthians, fourth chapter and followed it by prayer. Then followed the splendid sermon and the dismissal of the congregation by Mr. Anderson.

The Whitsitt Matter.

The association can hardly escape a renewal of the controversy over what has become known as "the Whitsitt controversy." Dr. W. H. Whitsitt prepared an article for an encyclopedia taking a position on baptism antagonistic to the teachings of the Baptist church. Being at the head of a denomination school, he was at once taken to task. District associations all over the state adopted resolutions of censure and asked him to resign. The general association last year asked the Kentucky trustees to use their influence to secure his resignation and the Mississippi association took still more radical action and adopted a resolution withdrawing support from the Southern Baptist Seminary as long as Dr. Whitsitt is at the head of it.

It is believed that the fight will come up here to-morrow as soon as the association convenes by the introduction of a resolution similar to the Mississippi resolution last year.

Dr. Whitsitt is on hand and ready to assist and the delegates are fast dividing themselves into two classes—Whitsittites and anti-Whitsittites. Unless all signs fail there is liable to be a lively time on the question when it comes up.

Trabue Anderson Returns.

Trabue Anderson, one of the Hopkinsville boys at Chickamauga, returned last night. He was unable to pass the physical examination.
